

School of Psychology and Clinical Language Sciences
Whiteknights, Reading, RG6 6AL

Study: Re-examining the role of eye-contact within online disinhibition on the behavioural effects of swearing

MID SESSION DEBRIEF SHEET

Supervisor:	Email	Phone:
Prof. Philip Beaman	c.p.beaman@reading.ac.uk	0118 378 7637
Experimenter:
Christopher Dobson	c.g.dobson@pgr.reading.ac.uk

Thank you for completing this session of our study.

As mentioned on the information sheet, this study comprises three independent testing sessions, of which this was one. Until you have completed all three sessions, however, we cannot fully explain the study aims and hypotheses, as this would potentially bias your responses during your future sessions.

Even though we cannot fully debrief you, it is important that we remind you that all data collected during this session will be kept confidential and securely stored, with only your anonymous ID number identifying it. Also, should you wish, you may withdraw from this study, without reason and penalty, by simply contacting the researchers using the details provided above. Should you wish to withdraw, all your existing data will be deleted, except for your consent form, which will be kept for 5 years.

The experimenter will send you an email within the next 1 to 2 days with the link you require to complete your next testing session. If you haven't received this email within 5 days, please check you spam folder. If no email has arrived, please contact the experimenter.

Once again, thank you again for your participation.

Prof. Philip Beaman and Christopher Dobson